

I wish to voice my concern over this proposal. While I applaud the efforts of the FCC to protect the privacy of citizens in states which do not currently have laws to protect privacy, this petition, as written, could give loopholes to companies to contact me. I am fortunate to live in the State of Indiana where the Attorney General has successfully created a very tough privacy law for telemarketing. Therefore, I encourage you to exempt Indiana from the new regulation in order that my rights to privacy will not be weakened.
